

1/3 of the calls I receive at work as a purchasing agent are junk. I have no "business" relation with them-they found my name in a directory and are trying to sell me something I do not need or want. It is a complete waste of my time for me to even talke to telemarketers.

Every one in the nation should have a no call list. If my bank, 5/3 starts calling me to get me to do more business with them, I will go somewhere else not on the list provided by the Indiana Attorney General.
